The Office of Unidentified Anomalous Phenomena has reported that an encrypted file has been cyber zapped by aliens causing letters to fall off the message straight down their columns. We need your help to put the message back together. Our cyber security team is gone to a middle school Christmas retreat. This is a critical message. The team left behind some advice. Start with columns which have one column of missing letters. Then go on to two and three letter words and determine which letters make reasonable words. You can do this. Report back to your pastor as soon as the message is reconstructed.
