

MS General Psychology COURSE ROTATION

The table below reflects the fall, spring, and summer graduate course offerings for the School of Psychology. Courses will be offered in the various modules (1, 2, 3, and full semester) over the course of the year. Key: F - Full Semester Online; 1, 2, 3 – Respective online modules each semester.

*Our goal is to adhere to the rotation below, but please understand that occasions may arise which will slightly alter the course scheduling. If this does occur, there will be communication from your advisor.

Course #	Course Name	Fall					Spring					Summer
		F	1	2	3		F	1	2	3		F	1	2	3
PSYC 5213	Research Methods	x					x
PSYC 5233	Lifespan Human Development							x					x
PSYC 5313	Psychological Testing				x												x
PSYC 5413	Learning Theories in Psychology				x			x
PSYC 5513	Theories of Personality									x							X
PSYC 5613	Health Psychology							x					x
PSYC 5713	Ethics and Multicultural Issues in Psychology		x								x
PSYC 5813	Biological Bases of Behavior		x														x
THEO 5113	Understanding Christian Vocation (schedule determined by Theology Department)
	Electives
PSYC 5083	Family Systems Theory and Therapies				x
PSYC 5223	Career Counseling and Lifestyle Development																x
PSYC 5003	Contemporary Psychology		x											x
PSYC 5013	Advanced Abnormal Psychology										x			x			